STORM DRAINS & FLOODED CAUSEWAYS

It has come to the attention of Council that children are playing in storm drains and flooded causeways.

Parents and children are reminded that this can be very dangerous. Not only from the risk posed by fast flowing water but also the risk from animals - Many animals make their homes in and around storm drains. Some of these animals include rats, spiders, and snakes, and coming into contact with any of these animals can expose you to the risk of injury or disease from bites and cuts.

Also don't forget that the water carries all sorts of materials down the drains from the streets and yards like litter and dog poo that can make people sick.

HEY KIDS DON'T PLAY IN THE DRAIN USE YOUR BRAIN
